

Junior researcher
Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies
Institute for International Law, Leuven University
‘Responsibility of member States for the acts of international organizations’

The Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies and the Institute for International Law of Leuven University are looking for a dynamic and high potential junior researcher.

The Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies is an interdisciplinary research centre of the humanities and social sciences at Katholieke Universiteit Leuven and performs research on different aspects of global governance in the areas of international trade and sustainable development, human rights, democracy, peace and security, the European Union and Global Multilateral Governance and EU-China relations (InBev-Baillet Latour EU-China Chair).

The Centre is seeking to hire an excellent and highly motivated researcher with a strong interest in the law of international organizations. (S)he will conduct fundamental PhD research on the topic of ‘Responsibility of member States for the acts of international organizations’ under the supervision of Prof. Cedric Ryngaert. Funding is provided for 4 years by the Flemish Fund for Scientific Research (FWO-Vlaanderen). The PhD research will also be embedded in the Institute for International Law of Leuven University’s Law Faculty. A competitive salary is offered.

Your opportunities

- You conduct doctoral research in international law.
- You contribute to the current and future research activities of the Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies and the Leuven Institute for International Law.
- You will be part of an exciting new and dynamic interdisciplinary research Centre near Brussels which brings together young academic talent from across the globe.

Profile

- You have a Master’s degree in the field of (international) law. Knowledge of international institutional law is an asset.
- You have excellent analytical and reporting skills.
- You are able to work in a research team.
- You have an excellent command of English. Knowledge of other languages is an asset, though not mandatory. Writing samples may be requested.
- During your studies you obtained excellent results from a leading University.

How to apply?

Please visit <http://www.kuleuven.be/vacatures> and apply online by 31 January 2012. Submission of two letters of reference is kindly appreciated.

For more information about the job description, please contact Prof. Cedric Ryngaert, cedric.ryngaert@law.kuleuven.be.